Now this is a girl with some pretty impressive genetics!

Georgia was named for the artist Georgia O'Keefe because the color of her fleece reminded me of O'Keefe's paintings of the landscapes of New Mexico where I was born. I bought Georgia when she was just over a month old, and it has been a pleasure watching her grow up. Since she was my first cria, we have kind of grown together in this business. She was my first one to halter train, my first one to take to a show...I learned a lot, and Georgia was very patient with me along the way. In the pastures, Georgia is a bit of a loner, but she loves to engage with people. She appreciates treats and will hum while you visit with her. She has a very sweet, laid back temperament and tends to do things in her own time, just like her sire. Georgia received strong genetics from Gianni, as well as her ancestors Kobe of PVA, Mahogany Prince, and Azalea. Her dam, Yuletide, at the age of almost 9 still has a fiber fineness of 24! Georgia's fleece is locked to the skin and very dense. Georgia has received the best of the physical characteristics of her ancestors along with their fiber fineness and density.

And to top it off, she has the cutest little dark brown spot to the right of her mouth, just like Marilyn Monroe! Her first breeding was to Prince Greystone. We're expecting an amazing June 2011 cria who will carry the possibility of gray.
